Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. has presented an innovation in antiquities and numismatics for some time now. The system is simple. When you want an antiquity or coin in the sale, just bid the estimated price by phone or mail. We will send you the antiquity or coin immediately. No waiting for the closing of the sale. Any and all antiquities or coins not sold before the closing date will be sent to the highest bidder on July 22, 2003.

EXAMPLE—You bid estimate on an item valued at $100.00 and if your bid is the 1st to reach us, you will receive the item immediately. If on the other hand, you bid $75.00 on the same item and are still the high bidder at the end of the sale, the item will be mailed to you on the closing date, July 22, 2003.

If you are ever in the area, stop in to see us! Of course, it's best to call first. Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. reserves the right to refuse any ridiculous bids.

The same die engraver also worked in Tarentum. This type is one of the great accomplishments in Greek art. I was in the room in 1974 when the finest of the four recorded examples was sold in the famous Kunstfreund Sale for 145,000 SF. I was also in the room at the Hunt Sale on June 19, 1990 when the same coin sold again for a hammer price of $185,000 plus 10%. Another specimen of this remarkable issue is Gulbenkian 70. That coin while better than ours to point of wear has a large reverse crack half way across the coin. This is remarkable as Gulbenkian collected almost without exception perfect coins. He saw this die as I see it, as one of the most important dies in Greek art, and accepted it even though it had a large defect. We have not been able to trace the other recorded specimens but ours is a pleasant VF with several old contact marks on the face. All four of the recorded specimens are from the same brilliant die and brilliant die engraver (KAL). Pleasant VF ..... 22500

411. SEPTIMIUS SEVERUS; 193-211 AD, Denarius, Emesa, 193 AD, 2.40g., Unpublished. Obv: IMP CE L SEP SEV PERT AVG CO (sic) Head laureate r. Rx: FOTVNAE (sic) REDVCI Fortuna standing l., polos on head, holding rudder and cornucopia. Ex Marc Melcher Collection, Triton VI, Jan. 2003, lot 1716 (part). The earliest coins of the "Emesa" Eastern mint are all very rare: those with the obverse legend IMP CAE L SEP SEV PERT AVG copied from Roman denarii of 193, and those with the same legend followed by II COS, II CO, or II C. Our coin brings a new form of these rare early legends, namely the legend of 193, though with the error CE for CAE, followed by CO only. About seven coins with this legend are known to C. Clay, all from the same obverse die. The unabbreviated reverse legend on our coin is also a very rare early variety, though here again the engraver erroneously omitted a letter: FOTVNAE (instead of FORTVNAE) REDVCI. C. Clay knows about six coins with this type and legend, again all from a single reverse die. The end of these early issues was marked by the introduction of the standard "Emesa" obverse legend, IMP CAE L SEP SEV PERT AVG COS II, and the abbreviation of many of the reverse legends, FORTVNAE REDVCI for example becoming FORTVN REDVC. This type is one of the most interesting in the Roman Christian series. It is the only coin which shows Constantine the Great in the moment he took Christianity when he dreamed that he saw a Chi-Rho and the words "In this sign you will conquer" in the sky before the battle of the Milvian Bridge in 313. Interestingly, it was struck by Vetrano, an old general, who at the behest of Constantia proclaimed himself emperor for a few months to hold Illyricum for her brother, Constantius II, against the usurpers Magnentius and Decentius who had established themselves in Gaul. On Christmas Day of 350 AD, Vetrano abdicated to Constantius II who gave him an estate for the remaining years of his life. Apart from coins bearing his own image, Vetrano also issued coins in the name of Constantius II, for example the following lots 614-5. EF, dark brown patina ..... 650

660. EGYPTIAN CERAMIC BLACK-TOPPED JAR, Early Pre-Dynastic Period, ca. 3800-3500 B.C. A fine representation of a pre-dynastic vessel of ovoid form tapering to a small base with a groove around the rim. Careful firing technique using firing-oven ashes was used to cultivate the undulating black rim, considered a mark of beauty during this cultural era. Set on a black base. H. 4 1/2" ..... 1500
661. EGYPTIAN BANDED ALABASTER MINIATURE VASE, ca. 2800-2600 B.C. Possibly used as a perfume or kohl container. H. 1 3/8" ..... 500
662. EGYPTIAN BANDED ALABASTER VASE, Old Kingdom, ca. 2686-2181 B.C. Smooth surface with light and dark tan coloration in the stone. H. 3" ..... 850
663. EGYPTIAN STEATITE SCARAB, Middle Kingdom, ca. 2040-1784 B.C. or later. A scarab beetle, with a rough surface, simplified details, including carved lines to indicate leg areas. Plainly delineated head area, and simple strokes to indicate wing cases. Reverses to reveal a composition of an oryx with long curved horns, and a palm branch, both symbolic of regeneration. A magical amuletic offering health and protection to the owner. L. 3/4" . 250
664. EGYPTIAN FAIENCE HIPPOPOTAMUS, 12th Dynasty, ca. 1990-1780 B.C. Made of bright blue faience it was broken through the middle during firing, when some of the glaze ran into a break. This enables us to see the way it was constructed. It was sculpted by hand starting with the general shape of a hippo then the shape was refined by adding outer layers. The eyes which were painted on in black paint are still visible. We have not rejoined this piece so that someone wanting to buy it for scientific purposes would be able to see it the way it came from the kiln. L. 4 3/4" ..... 1800
665. EGYPTIAN POTTERY PAINTED USHABTI, New Kingdom, ca. 1570-1070 B.C. Body painted in yellow ochre pigments with wig painted black. Remains of painted hieroglyphs. Mounted on a black stand. H. 6 1/2" .. 500
666. EGYPTIAN STEATITE LOTUS SCARAB, New Kingdom, ca. 1550-1070 B.C. A finely carved scarab with a pale green tint of an oval scaraboid-like shape and defined leg areas. Simple head rendering with fine lines incised upon the clypeus frill, simple notches to indicate the wing cases, and delicately outlined wingcase edges. The surface texture is smooth from handling, with an indication of wear at the frontal perforation for stringing. The reverse side features an incised lotus and lotus bud motif, symbolic of renewal. A Hyksos-era type of composition found to continue in later scarabs of the New Kingdom. L. 11/16" ..... 1000
667. EGYPTIAN STEATITE SCARAB, New Kingdom, ca. 1550-1070 B.C. or later. A scarab beetle, carved with v-notched wings, slightly arched back, and detailed legs, (characteristic of New Kingdom scarabs). Reverses to an inscription, 'men-m-neter', representing an imitation royal name or appellation of the king. Meaning "established with, or by means of, God," and having an amuletic, protective function. This is a variant of another form of appellation, 'aa-m-neter,' meaning "great as, or with, God." Early examples of this genre of inscription come from the Hyksos era, ca. 1785-1554 B.C. L. 7/16" ..... 500
668. EGYPTIAN STEATITE SCARAB IN THE NAME OF AMENHOTOP, New Kingdom, 18th Dynasty, Reign of Amenhotep III, Regnal dates 1395-1358 B.C. to the early reign of Akhenaten, Amenhotep IV 1358-1340 B.C. A steatite scarab with a pale green tint and traces of green glaze. This scarab beetle has proportions characteristic of the later New Kingdom, with a raised round back, leg definition with depth, and well-defined head details. The reverse carries a type of inscription which usually makes reference to the Amenhotep Kings as 'Son of Amen-Re', the goose glyph, or 'sa', meaning "son" is central to this composition, with the glyphs for the God 'Amen-Re', and a cartouche containing the glyphs which comprise the throne names of Amenhotep II and III arranged around it. In this example the goose glyph is prominent as well, but the other glyphs have been altered or replaced: The cartouche has been replaced with the solar disk, indicating the Solar God of Heliopolis, 'Re', the 'men' glyph remains in place above the goose's wing's, but without the other components that would create 'Amen' or 'Amen-re', and a 'T' glyph has been placed behind the goose, which can be interpreted as a use of 'T' as a feminine ending, changing the meaning of the goose glyph from 'sa' or "son" to 'Sa-t' or "daughter." The 'men' glyph, as seen in the context, alone, is translated with the meaning "to establish." Therefore, the translation, as the glyphs are written here, may be read, "Established is the daughter of Re." The daughter of Re is the goddess Ma'at, a diety personifying truth, justice, and cosmic order referenced frequently during the reigns of Amenhotep III and Akhenaten. This scarab may represent a transitional use of an established artistic motif to reflect changing religious views and to perhaps avoid reference to Amen-Re, the diety subject to censure during the reign of Akhenaten. L. 1/2" ..... 2250
669. EGYPTIAN STEATITE SCARAB, New Kingdom, ca. 1296-1070 B.C. or later re-issue. A steatite scarab with traces of green glaze with wide proportions, well-carved legs and head, and with diagonal lines marking the corners of the wingcases. Reverses to a composition featuring the king, wearing a crown, and carrying the crook and flail, symbolic of rulership. He is flanked on either side by a hippopotamus, each in opposing positions. The hippopotamus, often a symbol of regeneration in other contexts, is here more likely a representation of chaos and disorder, which the king is suppressing in his sacred role as the defender of Egypt against these evil forces. An amuletic scarab in which the king's protection from the forces of evil is magically extended to the owner. L. 11/16" ..... 2000
670. EGYPTIAN BLACK GRANITE STATUETTE OF A KNEELING PRIEST, Late New Kingdom, 20th Dynasty, ca. 1190-1070 B.C. Dressed in an Egyptian tunic his upper torso bare, and head shaved, but for a long lock hanging in the back. The priest kneels holding a large offering jar. Egyptian sculpture older than the New Kingdom is rare. Intact except for the absence of the ear on the right facing side. It is impossible to appreciate the strong aesthetic quality of this noble little sculpture from a photograph. H. 4 1/2" L. 3 1/4" ..... 12500
671. EGYPTIAN STEATITE EYE OF HORUS SCARABOID, Third Intermediate Period, ca. 1070-715 B.C. A carefully carved eye of Horus or 'wadjet' amulet with traces of green glaze. Meaning literally "the sound, or whole," and representing the ancient Egyptian god's abilities to restore health, life and vitality, reverses to a deeply carved and detailed image of the goddess Ta-weret, a menacingly protective mother hippopotamus, with a lion's mane, and long crocodile's tail, having powers to aid and protect women in pregnancy. She faces the magical symbols 'ankh', offering life, and 'sa' for protection. L. 1/2" ..... 1500
672. EGYPTIAN FAIENCE USHABTI OF A NOBLE PERSONAGE, Late Period, ca 760-343 B.C. Light green faience with heavily striated hair or wig. Nose is chipped at the tip. An area reglued from one solid break near the feet. Translation: 'Sister...me...to bring with, the Vernerated Osiris...scribe...The Queen Ta'...known...the house of Amun Re, satisfied...if the room, chamber...granted, with...then grant...enesy...('This is the shabti of a noble personage connected to the temple of Amun-Re, with the name of Queen Takhauth (Takhut), wife of Psamtek II (589-570 B.C.) and perhaps related to the royal family). Mounted on a wood base. H. 6 3/4" ..... 2750
673. EGYPTIAN FAIENCE USHABTI, Late Period, ca. 760-343 B.C. Dark green faience with black spotting. Translation: 'May he be illuminated, the Osiris: Perpetuate Heneb', give or grant Heneb, born of Isis, invocation offerings: beer, bread, and incense.' (*Heneb may be translated, 'He of the place of the rushes'). Mounted on a lucite base. H. 5 3/8" ..... 1050
674. EGYPTIAN BRONZE OSIRIS, Late Period, ca. 664-30 B.C. Mummiform Osiris holding a crook and flail with the atef crown and an ureaus. A nice larger Late Period example of an Osiris with green and black patination, with red flecks. Mounted on a wood base. Ex. old Egyptian collection. H. 5 5/8" ..... 3500
675. EGYPTIAN POLYCHROME WOOD MUMMY MASK, Late Period, ca. 525-332 B.C. This mask from an anthropoid sarcophagus is sculpted from a single piece of wood. It has virtually all of its original gesso layering and outer paint intact which is rather rare. The face is done in dark yellow ochre with the eyes outlined in black and the lips in reddish brown ochre. Stable surface with some color restoration. Mounted on a black stand. H. 5 3/4" W. 4 3/8" ..... 2500
676. EGYPTIAN WADJET AMULET, Late Period, ca. 525-332 B.C. A beautiful light green faience openwork eye within a frame with black and green glaze. H. 1 2/8" W. 1 1/16" ..... 1250
677. EGYPTIAN SCARABOID 'THE GOOD GOD' PLAQUE, Late Period, 30th Dynasty, ca. 380-362 B.C. A plaque carrying the throne name of King Thuthmose III, 'Men-Kheper-re', (reign dates ca. 1483-1429 B.C.) Flanked by the glyphs Nefer and Neter, together forming the epithet 'The Good God', regularly applied to Egyptian kings. The reverse side carries a similar composition of glyphs, beginning with the same Re, and Men signs as on the other side, followed by the Ka, 'Kheper-ka-ra', which was used by a number of kings, the most prominent of which was King Nectanebo I, a military leader and prolific builder, who, within a reign of 18 years, is recorded as a great king who resisted Persian occupation of the country. Following a pattern of association in which kings of succeeding generations often identified themselves with Thuthmose III. Ancient Egypt's great military King of the New Kingdom, Nectanebo I is a likely candidate for the dating of this plaque. Translated: (Side 1) Men Kheper Re, (Thuthmose III) The Good God, (Side 2) Re establishes Kheper Ka Re (Nectanebo I). L. 1/2" ..... 600
678. EGYPTIAN FAIENCE FACE, Ptolemaic Period, ca. 300-50 B.C. The arching eyebrows are tinted yellow and the pupils are dark. The face fragment was most likely broken from a vessel. Mounted on a lucite base. H. 1 3/8" W. 1 1/8" ..... 600

- TERRACOTTA
680. ETRUSCAN TERRACOTTA VOTIVE LEG, ca. 4th cent B.C. A simple hollow terracotta mold in the shape of a human leg. Votives of this type were offered at temples or sanctuaries in hopes of a recovery. Large and impressive. H. 14 1/2" ..... 1500
681. GREEK TERRACOTTA HEAD OF DIONYSUS, From Tanagra, ca. early 4th cent. B.C. Exceptional terracotta head of Dionysus. He wears an immense rosette in his hair. Very unusual and rare. Mounted on a black base. H. 3 1/2" ..... 7500
683. GREEK TERRACOTTA OF A YOUNG MAN, From Tanagra, ca. 330-300 B.C. Young men and boys rendered from Tanagra are typically shown wearing a cloak, or chlamys, which could be draped in any number of ways. The figure grasps his garment in his left hand while the remaining fabric is wrapped around his right arm and is pinned at the shoulder. On top of his head he wears a sunhat called a petasos, a popular form of outdoor headgear for the young men, even when in armor. This is one of the best examples of this type we have ever handled. Certainly it is better than the ones in the British Museum catalog. A faded collection sticker from the 1920's or 30's remains on the back. Expertly restored from fragments. H. 10 1/8" ..... 16500
684. GREEK TERRACOTTA BUST OF PERSEPHONE, ca. late 4th to early 3rd cent. B.C. An exquisite Hellenistic bust of Persephone. The goddess' wavy hair is centrally parted and she is portrayed wearing a polos bound with a fillet, which is tied in the front. Her ears are pierced for earrings and her hair has strong traces of red paint. This is the third specimen of this type we have handled in 39 years. It is not only the finest, but it is by far the most complete. The polos even bears the artists signature "APEI". There are no other recorded signatures on other extant specimens. The bust below the neck has been recomposed from large fragments, but it is intact from the neck up. A museum piece. H. 19 1/2" W. at shoulders 15" ..... 34500

It features decorative lug handles which are molded against the body of the vessel. There are three main registers of geometric patterns and a laurel wreath. Intact. H. 8" Dia. 12" ..... 2500
687. DAUNIAN CERAMIC RITUAL VESSEL, ca. 550-400 B.C. Daunian, a northern province in ancient Italy, preserved its local culture in the face of Greek colonization of Italy, longer than some other areas of Italy. The style of pottery from this period demonstrates this. Although there was some trade with Greece, there was more with the area which was the former Yugoslavia where ancient reproductions of Daunian style pottery have been found. This piece in particular, is a beautiful example of Daunian pottery. It has a round body decorated with geometric designs and horizontal lines. The opening at the top is small and surrounded by a wide lip. The most dramatic aspect of the design of this vessel, is the high handle. This is a beautiful Daunian piece of pottery. There is a small amount of incrustation. One of the small animal heads has been rejoined. Otherwise it is intact with paint remaining. H. 9" W. 6 1/8" ..... 3500
688. ATTIC CERAMIC BLACKWARE SKYPHOS, ca. 5th cent. B.C. This is a nice example of a large skyphos shape. Misfired brown in a few places, but well proportioned with thin walls. Restored from fragments. D. across handles 4 1/8", H. 7 7/8" ..... 500
689. ATTIC CERAMIC SESSILE KANTHAROS, ca. 4th cent. B.C. On either side is a crosshatch pattern and laurel leaves, a circle and dot in the center of the bottom of the foot. Very small chip on rim, otherwise intact with a nice shiny glaze. H. 4 1/2" Dia to handles 6 1/2" ..... 4500
690. GREEK CERAMIC ALABASTRON, ca. 4th cent. B.C. A classic shape with two small lug-handles. Pale terracotta painted in red oxide wash with a series of deeper red colored bands decorating the body. Mounted on a custom black metal stand. H. 5 3/4" ..... 600
691. MAGNA GRAECIA APULIAN FISH-PLATE, BY THE CUTLEFISH PAINTER, Tarentine School, ca. 4th cent. B.C. Drawn on the plate are a cuttlefish, gurnard, small mullet, scallop, and a hornshell. Painted by one of the masters of the genre. Recomposed from several fragments on the upper left side. Ex. Termer Collection, Hamburg. Exhibited, Kunst der Antike, (Cat. Nov-Dec 1980, pg. 98 no. 63). See McPhee and Trendall, Greek Red-figured Fish-plates, plate 46b (this piece). This wonderful fish plate is not only documented from a German collection, but also published in Dale Trendall's works in this area. A great provenance. H. 2 1/8" Dia. 10 1/8" ..... 12500
692. MAGNA GRAECIA TEANO CERAMIC PLATE, ca. 330-300 B.C. Details painted in white paint. This is a rare piece, and very beautifully decorated. Intact. Some white paint restored. H. 2 1/4" Dia. 11 3/4" ..... 2500
693. MAGNA GRAECIA TEANO CERAMIC KERNOS, ca. 330-300 B.C. This rare shape may have been once used as a votive. Literary references and visual representations point to the possibility of these vessels being used in Eleusinian rites and in connection with Cybele and Rhea. Fruit and vegetables would be placed inside the Kolyiskoi (the small cups balanced on the base). They would be carried on the head in a procession to present at a rite. (see Containers of Classical Greece, M.G. Kanowski ) The shape and size of this type of vessel varies greatly. This Kernos has 5 kolyiskoi, each decorated with incised lines and lines of dots. The base is decorated with incised lines and painted dots, with a vine motif as well. Dark black glaze. One kolyiskoi reattached, some restoration. H. 4 6/8" W. 6" ..... 2000
694. MAGNA GRAECIA TEANO CERAMIC JUG, ca. 330-300 B.C. This petite vessel is decorated with incised lines and painted dots. Intact and very attractive. H. 3 1/4" ..... 600

698. LURISTAN BRONZE FIGURE OF A GODDESS, ca. 8th cent. B.C. The nude idol rendered in a slender form with a collar and a belt, clasps her breasts in the fashion of Near Eastern fertility figures. Her face is modeled with a long wedge shaped nose, circular eyes and strong brows. Luristan female idols with such strong feminine characteristics are accessibly rare. Red and green patination. Mounted on a wood base. H. 5 5/8" ..... 8500
699. LURISTAN BRONZE FIGURE OF A GODDESS, ca. 8th cent. B.C. The nude idol is rendered in the tubular form with a multiple belt. She stands with her hands held to her breasts.
